

WFC REVIEW

MONDAY, JULY 19, 1982

WELCOME!

It is a real pleasure to have you here to be part of the unique community which has grown up around WFC week. Over the years almost 500 different players have taken part. We on the staff sincerely hope you will have a truly memorable experience.

We have, over the past year, labored for many hours to create the best possible situation for this event. Specifically, we have tried to improve on the weaker aspects of past WFC's. We believe that the result is the best arrangements ever provided. However, only your cooperation, enthusiasm, assistance and participation will bring this unique experience to life. This is going to be fun - enjoy it.

THE ANNUAL TOUT SHEET

Here's our yearly attempt to guesstimate the various races and events of W.F.C.. We use the following categories: Projected Winners, Good Bets and Dark Horses. We pick our winners based on recent back records and crystal disc gazing. Good bets are folks who keep the winners awake at night. Dark horses are either lesser known or less likely but could easily put it together and win.

If you are an obvious winner and we missed you-sorry. Bet heavily on yourself and remember we helped get you the good odds.

Just as a proof of our own track record please consider that in this issue of the 1981 WFC review we:

- Picked Zimmerman to win SCF (a very iffy event).

However we also:

- Missed both overall races (went for Kirkland/Loftus).

- Failed to mention Cohn/Brenner in DDC or Hunter in golf.

- Missed all 5 of the womens races.

Well anyway, we got 'em all right this time - check it out...

OPEN DIVISION

DISTANCE Winner: Van Miller (Strongest man in the sport)
Good Bets: Lemann, Zimmerman
Dark Horses: McHugh, Krajna, Bonopane

S.C.F. Winner: Scott Zimmerman (Best % player ever)
Good Bets: Krajna, LeBeau
Dark Horses: Brooks, Conger, Jay Beukelman

D.D.C. Winner: Bonopane/Zimmerman
(The Guts Champs will catch JC and Paul and double them)
Good Bets: Cohn/Brenner, Sheldon/Pierson
Dark Horses: Loftus/LeBeau, Hubbard/Mackey

GOLF Winner: Scott Zimmerman (See SCF)
Good Bets: Pierson, Hosfeld, Watson
Dark Horses: D. Loftus, Conger, Marx

FREESTYLE Winner: Velasquez 2 (The brothers cook at home)
Good Bets: Brooks/Kurz/Adams, Krajna/Hubbard/Wootten
Dark Horses: Beukelman/White/Soto, Sparkman/McElwain

DISCATHON Winner: Tony Pellicane (His first win will be the big one)
Good Bets: Adams, LeBeau, Nodine
Dark Horses: White, Plocktis, Robbins

OVERALL Winner: Scott Zimmerman*
Good Bets: Beukelman, Krajna, Adams
Dark Horses: Brooks, Miller, Hubbard, Swyers, Pellicane

*Scott certainly faces a larger number of qualified threats than in the past. He has not won any of the nationals but has three WFC's in a row. He wants four.

WOMEN'S DIVISION

DISTANCE Winner: Bethany Porter (Guts power)
Good Bet: Fields

S.C.F. Winner: Judy Horowitz (Best %)
Good Bet: J. Loftus

D.D.C. Winner: Joann Loftus/Judy Horowitz (Can win the Open too)
Good Bet: Mahoney/Booth

GOLF Winner: Michele Marini (Best approach shot male or female)
Good Bet: Horowitz

FREESTYLE Winner: Joann Loftus/Judy Horowitz/Sue Beukelman
Good Bet: Solomon & ?

DISCATHON Winner: Joann Loftus (A gazelle)
Good Bet: Marini

OVERALL

Winner: Joann Loftus (A pick 'em battle and discathon = Jo for the first time)
Good Bet: Horowitz

OVERALL

M: Monroe* (Best balance)
GM: Widel (Too Strong)
SGM: To close to call
(We're too smart)

*The tightest race of all.
five guys could win.

FOREIGN INTRIGUE

This year's event features several foreign firsts:

- The largest percentage of non-U.S. Competitors. (37%)
- The largest number of countries represented. (14)
- Probably the largest number of non-U.S. threats to win an open individual event. This would be a first.

RUTGERS RAH!

The people at RU have been incredibly cooperative in getting ready for our event. Please respect their requests and facilities and thank them for their hospitality if you get a chance.

MINI MADNESS

Don't miss the unique opportunity to vie for the little title. Check schedule each day for the mini championship events headed up by Greg Hosfeld. (Metzger 214)

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

The U.S. team has surprisingly (and unprecedented) number of related players: Velasquez, Roddick, Pellicane, Loftus, and of course lots of Beukelmans.

TODAY WE SET THE TIME MACHINE FOR.....1974

Way back in the prehistoric days of disc (pre-Nail delay, can you believe?) two young Frisbee disc enthusiasts at Rutgers decided to further spread their love of the disc and launched a newsletter called FLYING DISC WORLD. The first issue appeared in February 1974, 8 legal-size pages, now yellowing with age. Subtitled "Of, by, and for Disc Enthusiasts", it was edited by Dan "The Stork" Roddick, F.M. (Frisbee Master) and Bob "Flash" Eberle, F.M. In 1976 FLYING DISC WORLD would merge with the IFA NEWSLETTER to become FRISBEE DISC WORLD under Dan's guidance.

Today's lesson is from Volume 1, Number 2. One of the major stories was "Basic Double Disc Court Strategy" by Jim Palmeri. Also included were the official rules of DDC. At the time it was a singles game played in 12 by 14 foot courts separated by a 19 foot neutral zone. Lots of flutter throws were used, and breaks occurred whenever the two discs touched, no matter where they landed. It was slightly bizarre. But as Stork's fledgling newsletter would grow into a mature IFA publication, Palmeri's brainchild would evolve into the version of DDC you're playing this afternoon.

What is amazing, especially in retrospect, is the first paragraph of Jim's strategy article. What was written back in '74 still applies this very day. I quote: "Double Disc Court is a flying disc game designed to demand the utmost in athletic skills in general and disc skills in particular. Fast reflexes, agility, and quick throwing ability along with highly skillful handling of a flying disc are very essential in order to do well in the game. A good player of the game is one who can throw any type of disc shot with pinpoint accuracy and can catch any type of shot thrown at or near him. Players are forced to think fast and to make split second decisions because two discs are always in play simultaneously and the rules prohibit the competitors from making contact with both discs at the same time."

Tomorrow's lesson: "Through Europe With a Disc" (1974) where "a devotee can usually find discs and throwers even in the wild interior of Darkest Europe."

FLYING DISC TRIVIA QUIZ Our regular trivia contest will begin Tuesday (space is tight). In the meantime, try this one, reprinted from FLYING DISC WORLD's 9th and final issue. (June 1975):

"Take the total age of the Library Bar starting team at IFT 17; add the mold # of the special run pro made for Ann Arbor; divide by the number of times 'Wham-O' appears on a third period Pluto Platter; add the number of timeouts allowed per team in Ultimate; subtract the number of cents deposit on the Frisbie tin; multiply by the number of apes appearing on the Amsun Planet of the Apes disc; add the number of players currently holding 'world' distance titles." The person submitting the most complete answer will win a special collector's item: a 1982 WFC oddity disc. Winners from past years can tell you how nice the prize is. Submit answers to Mark Danna (Metzger 211) no later than 8 P.M. tonight.

The La Mirada Open was a huge success: 209 competitors, 80 degree weather, and a final 9 on cable TV. Thanks to everyone who joined us, including our sponsors: Coors, Wham-O, and Giuliano's Deli. (Dan Mangone)

THE DAILY DONUTS STRIKE BACK Imagine this. You have just uttered THE funniest one-liner in WFC history. It takes a moment to sink in. And then...all of a sudden...there's laughter. Hysterical laughter. Uncontrollable laughter. Howls, screams, fits and gales of laughter. EVERYONE looks around to find out who could have said such a side-splitter. And they see YOU! It's YOU!! What a wit! You should share it with the world.

And you can. That's what this column is for: sharing the bons mots on the playing field, the wonderful witticisms in the cafeteria, the colorful happenings that demonstrate the humor and humanity of the World Championships.

You're not a funny person? So what? You have ears, right? If you hear something worth repeating, let us know. We accept hearsay - gladly. We will even withhold the names of contributors who wish to remain anonymous.

We want these Daily Donuts - these crumbs of humor - to be an uplifting (don't gag!) part of your breakfast. So what if you were dead last in Discathon? It's over. Smile. Eat. And read on.

With a tip of our collective hat to Sports Illustrated's "Score-card" column - our inspiration for three years of donuts - we now offer some reheated stories from the 1981 WFC. What we mean when we say: THE DAILY DONUTS STRIKE BACK.

WHAT DID YOU SAY YOUR MINOR WAS? Last year in the dining hall fairly frequent food fights among freestylers (not with us this year) prompted announcer Ron Kaufman to report in his Freestyle semi-finals introductions that one collegiate player was "majoring in Frisbee and Grateful Dead with a significant minor in nutritional ballistics."

WHO SAID "CONSISTENCY IS THE KEY?" Roger Galton of England easily took the "Mr. Consistency" award the next day for his first four holes of golf. He started with a triple bogey 6. Unfazed and obviously warmed up, he then aced the next hole. This he followed with back-to-back double bogies. At that point his scorecard read 6, 1, 5, 5. No birdies, no pars, no bogies - the very model of consistency.

YOU ARE WHAT YOU WEAR. The "Best Juxtaposition of T-Shirts" award went to side-by-side Daryl Elliott and Scott Zimmerman. Daryl's shirt read, "Animals are not ours to kill, eat, experiment on or own." Scott's said, "In and Out Burger."

THE SATISFACTION OF SHOOTING AN 8. When fellow golfers heard that Bruce "Putt-gorski" Podgorski had shot an 8 in the opening round, they naturally assumed he was 8 under par. Not so. Winning that day's "Mr. Consistency" award, Bruce had 9 deuces, 6 threes, 2 fours, and an 8 - on one hole. Actually, he was happy to get the 8. He salvaged it with a 70-foot putt.

HERE, LET ME HELP YOU WITH THE STATS. In albee's room the master chart - blank except for a grid with competitors' names with spaces to indicate finishes and overall rank - leaned against the wall. Sitting in a chair opposite the chart, a playful Van Miller fired an uncapped pen past albee's nose. The pen struck the chart, slashing a straight line, a "1" in the overall rank space of a competitor. The competitor's name? Judy Horowitz. The women's overall champ. Good aim, Van.

THE "OTHER STUFF"

Boy! Have we got a pair of winners! The hot event so far is the Hole-in-One Contest outside the dorm. Put up your quarter for two shots at a Pole Hole about 50 meters away, and take the pot if you win.

At one point Sunday night there were about 30 eager putters waiting in line to collect the silver. Forty-five minutes into the contest Vince Nesci of Australia brought a roar with a shot that hit the top of the basket. (Hit metal and you get two bonus throws). But it was not till a half hour later that Phil Johnson of Stillwater, Minnesota made the magic shot. Total haul for Phil: $22.50. Not bad. That translates to 90 games of Pac Man. Plus Phil wins a WFC collector's disc.

The next Hole-in-One event takes place Wednesday night. Don't miss it!!!

* * * * *

Also on the front burner is the 1st Annual World Mini Frisbee disc Championships under the direction of the Miniac Greg Hosfeld. The first event, held last night, was "Around 9" - putting into a mini Pole Hole from 9 gradually lengthening positions. More points are scored for longer shots.

Dan Mangone set a precedence right away by sinking all but 3 of his putts and scoring 27 points. Midway through the 29 competitors, Bill Burns topped that with 32 points, making 7 of 9. Gregg Hosfeld, shooting last, came up short with 31 points. A three-person final is expected tonight.

Also on tap this evening is Mini Discathon. It will probably be run in the kiddie's playground behind Metzger Dorm. The giant slide will be a factor.

Historical note: The Burns "brothers" (not really - Bill's from Indiana, Dennis is from North Carolina) made mini history (hist?). Bill was the leader in the "Around 9" prelims, and Dennis was the first person ever to be scratched in the World Mini Championships. Way to go.
