Spring Tournaments: Good Times, Great Golf

Raleigh has hosted four events since last issue: the Joe Who? Invitational, the Dogwood Crosstown Classic (Pro and Am), and the first ever Spring Ding at the Country Course. Mild late winter/early spring weather has made for good turnouts at tournaments (average field: 50) and heavy practice traffic.

Carlton Howard has been the only multiple winner so far, with three victories in three RADL events. Looks like all points races will be up for grabs this year.

The Joe Who? Invitational at Kentwood, always one of the year's best-attended events, drew 69 players. Carlton beat Dano Haynes and Jim Markov in Pro; the host trashed the Advanced field; and Paul Bender edged Lee Squires and Ed Heffington in the Ams. Dru Armstrong was closest to #18 for a disc.

The Dogwood Crosstown Classic, a stop on the 1991 PDGA Pro Tour, attracted professionals from many states to shoot for a $2980 cash purse. Zeke McKinney and Aaron Hayes left the rest of the Masters field behind, with Zeke finally beating Aaron by a single throw. In the Open division, Larry Leonard took the $500 first prize, beating Scott Holter and Johnny Sias by one throw. Carlton led the RADL charge in fourth, and Randy Whittington was sixth. Patti Kunkle beat Yolanda Hall in the Women's Open division. Michael Carrier aced #4 at Kentwood and Glenn Henry aced #18 at Cedar Hills to claim $20 bounties. Jim Hopkins and Steve Gordon won closest-to-the-hole packages of 15 discs (!) each.

In the Dogwood Crosstown Amateur divisions, Lance McCullough won in Advanced over Randy Whittington and Barry Millward. Lee Squires broke through big, taking the Amateur title by five shots. Ed Heffington and Doug Nettesheim were closest-to-the-hole (only 14 discs each). Ed also had a "mac ace" on #16 at Cedar Hills. A total of 167 discs were given away in the Crosstown Amateur.

The Spring Ding was the first of what should be many annual Country Course spring fling things. Though morning rain delayed the start of play an hour, it stopped in time and playing conditions were "proper". Carlton made it three for three in RADL monthlies this year, with Brett Rousseau in second place, Jim Hopkins third, and Stan McDaniel fourth. Steve Huegel nipped Lee Squires in Advanced, and Richard Paschal took third. Frank Altimore pulled away from Bernie Graham and Ol' Tone Woodruff in the second round to win the Amateur title and that coveted PDGA Advanced membership. Jim Hopkins had a course-record 45 that included seven straight deuces, and Carlton won the closest-to-the-hole contest.

Ace Pool Action: Dano Haynes aced #16 at Kentwood in the Joe Who?, claiming a $79 pot. During the Crosstown Ams, Tim Hinkle got #1 at Kentwood and $48. No aces at the Spring Ding; $50 carried over.

Also inside, the final 1990 RADL Points Standings. Matt Jones, who had a great year, won the Open Division. Lance McCullough moved up from Amateur during the year and didn't miss a beat, outpointing the rest of the Advanced Division. Jim Scholfield, the Amateur winner, also receives the "basket case" award for being the only golfer to play in all ten RADL-sponsored events in 1990.

Hole Sponsorships Sweeten Pots at Crosstown for Both Pros and Ams

Selling of sponsorships to raise additional prize money for the Dogwood Crosstown Classic was very successful. All 18 holes were sold for both events. At $25 per hole, this added $225 to the purses in each division. For the ams, the extra funds allowed for more plastic to be given away. Everyone who finished got a disc; division winners got 12 discs, and closest-to-the-hole winners got 14.

The advertising signs were attractive and well made. A pat on the back goes to Jim Darges, who was in charge of the committee; Dan Brennan and Jim Hopkins, who made the sign boards (no doubt about which end was up); and Dan, Matt Jones, and David Keller, who did the computer work. Nice job, guys.

RADLing Down the Road

RADL golfers, like the Marines, continue their tradition of being eager to mobilize for operations in distant theaters. Here are some highlights from successful raids this spring.

Carlton Howard and Ken Nowell finished 3-4 behind Johnny Sias and Stan McDaniel in the Open division of the tournament held in Durham March 2-3. Steve "Hurricane" Huegel achieved a brilliant triple: he won the Advanced division and aced #15, which was also the closest-to-the-hole hole.

Barry Millward and Lee Squires won the Advanced and Amateur divisions, respectively, at the Earlwood Dometop Classic. Carlton tied for third in the Open division of the tournament, held March 9-10 in Columbia, SC.

Rico, Georgia had a full house (90 players) for the April 6-7 event. Carlton was second and snatched a $350 purse. Brett Rousseau finished eleventh and won $75.

At the Virginia State Championships, held at Fredericksburg April 13-14, Carlton won the disc golf competition without ever being in the lead group; and Dave Hesselberth made the finals in both MTA and distance. Sieve Cunningham, a RADL member from Richmond, also made an appearance.

Discellaneous

Two Snaps Up: To Brett Rousseau, winner of a $118 ace pool at the Ice Bowl, for upholding that honored golf tradition of ace scorers buying a round, and bringing beer to the Joe Who?

To Louise Smith, who, although she needed 311 throws, completed all four rounds of the Crosstown and won four discs. Practice with those new discs!

Two Snaps Up With Hyzer: To Holly Trull for all her work.

RADL Officers for 1991 were elected at the February meeting. They are:

Carlton Howard.....President & Treasurer
 Zeke McKinney.....Vice President
 Joe Who?.....Sergeant-at-Arms
 Jim "Barney" Darges.....Deputy Sergeant-at-Arms
 Bob "Tortoise" Estes.....Newsletter Editor

RADL is Recycling aluminum cans for $. Cans picked up at Kentwood may be flattened and tossed on top of the restroom building for collection later. Contact Dan Brennan, 782-6512. The money goes into a separate fund for the club to decide how to spend. Whether or not you go through RADL, please recycle.

Course Maintenance: No disc golfers that I know of are litterbugs; in fact, disc golfers pick up other people's trash. Please help educate players new to the game that this is how disc golfers treat the courses that we are so fortunate to have. Now if we could just educate the softball crowd.

Disc-claimer: Please don't get uptight if you see a mistake in the arithmetic, typing, or prize information. We make a modest effort to get it right, but stuff happens. If there are discrepancies in any tournament results printed here, the results as posted at the conclusion of the tournament shall stand.
