LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

OCTAD was the first flying disc event I ever attended; I went to watch, and did not compete. Good thing, too, as at that point I was capable of performing only the most rudimentary Freestyle tricks, and had little or no experience in the other disciplines. I came away from that long-ago (seems like years!) tournament a confirmed plastic addict.

Later that summer, a friend who has since forsaken disc took me to Sedgely Woods and lent me a 40 mold. Further entrancement ensued. I diligently practiced Freestyle every day with my partner, Mike Freeman (who now lives in California and has gotten very hot), and by August, felt ready to compete. Mike, Jim Brian- originator of the "flailing spastic antelope 'gitis"- and I piled in the VW and headed to Ocean City NJ, site of the "Beach Bash", a meet now gone the way of the dodo bird. We styled, on the beach, to Sid Vicious' version of "My Way", and dropped everything. I threw a big 66 yards in Distance. I had a great time.

Since then, I've attended just about every tournament I could get to, met hundreds of fellow flatball junkies, and embarrassed myself in front of thousands of spectators.

But OCTAD was first. OCTAD was the spark.

This year, bring some friends along to OCTAD at Warwick Park, May 24, 25 & 26. Pay their way if you have to. There is no guarantee they'll get hooked as I did, but you gotta start somewhere. WSW

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

by Jim Powers

The Tri-State Frisbee Club, a new organization, is formed! The Philadelphia Area Frisbee Club, in cooperation with individuals from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware, selected a new name and logo for the new group.

Dan Guest won the name/logo contest with a strong design-see cover. Over 15 entries were received. Dave Stembel's design, also very well done, placed second.

A cool breeze greeted players at the PA Greets DE inaugural Disc Golf Tournament at Brandywine Creek State Park. Brandywine Creek State Park, with help from Rich Hughes, Steve Winchester, and fellow DE golfers, has expanded to a tough, long 18 hole Pole Hole course. Congratulations are due to the hard-working Delaware Disc Golfers!

This issue of the new TRI-STATE FRISBEE CLUB NEWSLETTER contains an important ballot for the new organization. Please take the time to fill out and mail in the ballot. Results will be announced at OCTAD.

The OCTAD 1986 offers many exciting opportunities to try out new disc events. This year's OCTAD will focus on the overall US Open type scoring system. Events included in the overall scoring will be PDGA Golf, Freestyle, Guts, Distance, MTA, and Ultimate. See specific information on OCTAD '86 on pg 18 for a full explanation of events and registration.

I encourage all members of the TRI-STATE FRISBEE CLUB to attend this year's OCTAD, an exciting 3 day event, and to enter all the events. Hope to see YOU there!!! JP

OUT OF THE TWILIGHT ZONE

by Shannon Winn

A few years back, National Lampoon ran a feature titled "The Seventies that Never Happened". It was a series of photographs depicting various scenes of social enlightenment that had been predicted in the sixties. There among the shots of legalized recreational drug use and peaceful, communal living was a retouched photo of the Dallas Cowboys playing football with what looked like a lid.

Disc Sports have hovered on the edge of general acceptance for what seems like an eternity to those of us who play. Wild predictions aside, I have always wondered why everybody isn't a disc player. The sport(s) have so much going for them- relative ease of entry, low cost, fun, etc. Why are disc activities still looked upon as a novelty by the average person? When you tell someone you are a disc player, a disgustingly regular response is "No kidding. What kind of dog do you have?" At times it seems we are forever doomed to inhabit the twilight zone of sports-world insignificance. A lot of players don't seem to mind.

Much of this is our own fault. For years, I was guilty of limiting my participation to showing up for an occasional tournament, and jamming at the park or the beach. Sure, I had lots of high-blown fantasies about getting a golf course in my native Lehigh Valley, recruiting scads of young players, winning a tournament- but I never really did anything about them. Actually, taking over the editorship of this newsletter was little more than a happy impulse, but believe this- involvement begets involvement. Whether my individual sincere involvement will make a meaningful difference remains to be seen, but there is no question that the sincere involvement of many can. Individual inertia and procrastination-"I'll do something for my sport when I get the time," are among disc sports' greatest enemies.

I'm starting to sound like a TV preacher.

There are other big problems, and here is where there are also big disagreements. I believe we have spread ourselves too thinly. There are just too many disciplines to allow for both quality training and quality involvement. I mean, how can anyone work on establishing a Pole Hole course when he's busting his hump trying to practice for DDC, Distance, Golf, Freestyle, Ultimate, Guts, Self-caught, and (urgh) Discathon, not to mention the perifery garbage disciplines like K-9.

I see K-9 as a problem. It is a joke, a (expletive deleted) circus act; more than a distraction, it seriously damages our credibility as athletes. Enough said.

Nomenclature is another problem. It's very hard to take a sport seriously when it's called "Frisbee". It sounds so diminutive, so damned CUTE. The name Ultimate is another example. Ultimate? Surely there is a better name for this fine sport.

While we are on the subject of Ultimate, a sport I seldom play, so maybe I shouldn't criticize, I think it is time for referees. This is a fast-moving, exciting game to watch, until play is interupted by the players trying to decide calls in which they have a vested interest. Lofty aspirations of sportsmanship are admirable, but face it folks- we've all been brought up in a highly competitive society. Self-policing is an unnecessary load to bear, especially when it bores the hell out of spectators. And anyway, isn't it more sportsmanlike to be pissed off at a ref than at the other team? It's even worse in Guts, where there is no exhaustion to temper tempers. So let's have refs in Ultimate and Guts.

We come now to Freestyle, the most aesthetic and toughest discipline. Some of my thoughts on freestyle are already on record, but here are a few ideas on why this sport isn't bigger. First, it takes a certain personality type to excel- the term "hot dog" comes to mind. Also, to be "state-of-the-art", a player must pretty much rule out everything else from his training schedule. There are a few exceptions, so don't send me a list of good overall players who are also great stylers, OK? Almost all of the best freestylers are effectively specialists. Thirdly, unless you play, you have no idea what difficulty is. The average spectator is more impressed with a relatively easy toe-delay or roll-over than by a more difficult but less spectacular against-the-spin balance move. This problem seems insoluble. Lastly, I'm not even sure that Freestyle should even BE competitive, but then again, there is no event I'd rather win- You get to dress up, blast rock'n'roll, and wow the chicks. Hot dog indeed. I'm also partial to flying off cliffs on skis, so this is probably a personal problem.

The field events- Distance and Self-caught, are rather esoteric as well; appreciated mostly by the players themselves. On a personal note- After six or seven years of trying to throw distance with some semblance of respectability, I finally broke that frustrating 100 meter barrier at the VA States. It really was no fun hurling my guts out, only to see discs flying fifty feet over my head as I reached down to pick up my best throw. Those days are now over, thankfully, and should serve as a lesson to all you aspiring distance throwers, to wit; Don't give up!

Happily, Disc Golf finally seems to be getting off the ground. Of all the facets of disc play, golf has the best chance to become a "major" sport. This is due to excellent courses, equipment, and people, and the strength of the game itself. It really lends itself to TV coverage better than its more traditional stick-and-ball counterpart- a bigger object for the camera to follow, shorter holes, more varied flight possibilities, more aces, etc.

One of disc sports' biggest plusses can also be viewed as a drawback from a sponsorship standpoint- its low cost. Equipment manufacturers just don't have all that much to gain by heavy sponsorship. Other than Wham-O, who has alot of other irons in the fire, they can't afford it. You can outfit yourself with ALL THE VERY BEST equipment for every disc event for less than 100 bucks. Compare this to the big $$$ world of alpine skiing, where to similarly equip yourself would cost well in excess of 3500 dollars, and where there are airlines and resorts to put up those big purses. Same with ball golf, and tennis. Recreational disc play needs no infrastructure, therefore there is none to draw on when competitive play needs a money infusion.

So what does all this mean? I think it means that the future of disc sports, gentle reader, is in your hands. Nobody is going to do this for us. WE must make it happen. Get involved, get off your collective butt and do something for your sport. You won't be sorry. WSW

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Shannon,

I would like to suggest some club fund-raising activities which worked with some success for the Disc International Sports Club (KC), of which I am a former member. I would also like to comment on the added responsibility the club name change brings.

First off, the fund-raising activities:

1--We raffled off discs, foootbags, and club shirts at a dollar a shot at our club meetings and tournaments. A lot of people will chance $1 to win an Aviar or Lightning.

2--We ran club car washes and garage sales. for the garage sales, members donated unwanted items. Both activities reqired volunteer work by club members.

3--We had members save their aluminum cans and bring them to an apponted member's house (someone with a truck or van), who once a month would cash them in at a recycling center.

4--We had members make chicken salad sandwiches, etc. for tournaments, which were traded for donations to the club, therby getting around hte illegal selling of food in a public park.

These activities do require volunteer work from the membership, but from my experience, club work can be fun because of the great people you work with and the things you accomplish.

As far as the club name change from the Philadelphia Area Frisbee Club to the PA-DE-NJ club goes, I hope this indicates that the club will help set up events in more areas of PA instead of just the Greater Phila. area. (Editor's Note- What we really did, rather than simply change the club name, was form a new umbrella organization covering the area clubs. The PAFC continues to exist as a separate entity) As a resident of Berks County, it's not always possible to to get down to Philly on time for tournaments, and I'm sure there are other players who have the same problems. Holding tournaments in other places will introduce more people to the sport and the club, increasing revenue and membership. Let's really have a PA-DE-NJ club and not just a Philly-DE-NJ club.

Sincerely,
Ed Klinger

THE BRANDYWINE CREEK STORY

by Steve Winchester

Greetings, Golfers! Good news for the Delaware Valley- There is a new 18 hole disc golf course at Brandywine Creek State Park in Delaware. I've been asked to write about the course; how we got it, and what we've got.

The first subject is how we got the course. This should interest anyone trying to get a course in their hometown. It started with letters, from individual golfers willing to go beyond just playing to actually donating a little time to the promotion of the sport. Last year, we set up a Disc Golf Ladder Challenge, and Rich Hughes coordinated eight tournaments, sponsored by the Parks. The Ladder allowed us to communicate, and the tournaments had bigger turnouts than any the Parks themselves had run in previous years. We also continued to write letters, and kept in touch with Park officials by phone.

As a result of the above, the Parks people were convinced of Disc Golf's popularity in Delaware. In early 1986, they decided to buy 9 more Pole Holes for Brandywine Creek. That's when we put the icing on the cake, offering to design and install the additional holes. The Parks people cautiously accepted our offer, figuring golfers could best design the course. We convinced them that the installation could be done with the help of a few contractors among our group.

With the course design, we tried to be as democratic as possible, setting up a weekend meeting for anyone with design ideas. Again we used the Ladder Challenge to communicate. That weekend, we walked out a rough course. The following weekend, we were honored by a visit from "Steady Ed" Headrick. He went over the course with us and the Park officials. Ed gave us a few pointers, suggested a few changes, and most of all, showed the Parks people that Disc Golf is growing on a national level. Thanks Ed! We hope to see you again real soon.

At this point, we had a good PDGA course tentatively set up, but we still weren't ready to break ground. With the course staked out, we called everyone on the Ladder to come out and play it. About 25 showed up, with a few minor design changes in mind, and we got final approval. All that was left was construction. We built the course ourselves, the Parks supplying the materials. The money we saved the Parks is being put towards the next 18 hole course in Delaware.

The course is located on one of the highest spots in the state, and its two major features are wind and hills.

First, the wind, which changes throughout the day. Park regulars observed a regular pattern of wind changes. With the prevailing pattern in mind, we designed the course so that the wind is usually in the players' favor, meaning that for every shot on which it hurts you, you'll have one on which the wind helps you. As a bonus, the wind is usually not present in the morning, and lets up again in the evening. We can't predict it 100% of the time, but we do guarantee a course that is continually changing due to wind.

The other feature is the hill that goes down and around, up, and around again. On the way down and around, the golfer encounters barns and a few trees as obstacles on some 300 feet + holes that are deuceable. Up and around, you'll run into some real long arm exercise.

We also added more footage to the original front nine to make it comparable to the back. In addition, there are now two alternate pro tees for 5 and 6 that will knock your socks off. Pro hole 6 is over 600 feet long!

The overall footage is over 5800 feet. Using the pro tees, it is over 6200 feet. There are four left doglegs, five right, three left or right, and four blind tee shots. The average hole length is 330 feet. This above average length, when coupled with Brandywine's winds, make it Delaware's best course.

So gather up your discs and come on out to Delaware's wide open spaces. Longer drives and straighter putts to all! SW

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Shannon,

Please be informed that the date for the PDGA 1986 Pro Tour Disc Golf event at Mt. Kisco, NY has been changed. The new dates are June 14 and 15.

We will try to run a tournament consisting of three or four events- Disc Golf, MTA, DDC, and either Distance or Discathon.

The tournament will start at 10AM.

Two rounds of golf on Saturday, plus MTA.

Starting at 10AM on Sunday, with one round of golf, MTA final, DDC, and we'll hopefully have time for a nine hole (golf) final.

NOTE: 2 day tournament. Accommodations available for all Philadelphia disc players at my house- bring your sleeping bags.

Very Truly Yours,
David P. Jones

SUMMER ULTIMATE LEAGUE

by Steve Nelson

Yes Virginia, there will be summer league Ultimate in Philadelphia again this year! Once more the fields of Fairmount Park will resound with the gleeful sounds of people playing Ultimate in the evenings. Last year's league was a great success, and we expect this year will be a clone.

For those that don't know about it, we offer a co-educational learning league to encourage people who have had little or no experience in Ultimate. Games are played it the evenings once a week for 8-9 weeks. The last weekend, we have a final tournament in which all teams participate, to determine who will wear the Champion of Philadelphia Summer League crown. The cost is $1 and the league is open to anyone and everyone. We stress that this an educational league- the experienced players in the area split up among various teams to help the less experienced learn the game. Teams are chosen at random, with a few experienced players on each team.

Call me at (215) 482-8988 for more information. Help us breed Ultimate--Play Summer League!

ULTIMATE UPDATE

by Steve Nelson

Well, the spring season is well under way and the sectional/regional/Easterns triumvirate is only a breath (goal) away. The season actually started with the Snow Bowl at Belmont Plateau during the East Coast Captain's Meeting, and it began with a Champagne Toast and eight inches of snow. But the real season opener saw 17 teams at bucolis Lums Pond in Newark DE, compete in the Pull-Off Classic, March 29&30. In the Open division, the semi-finalists were Spot (NYC), Mr. Yuk (Fitts.), Uprising (Philly), and the University of Vermont (fresh from two FLA tourneys) Spot polished off UVM and Mr. Yuk defeated Uprising to set the stage for the final. In it, Spot demonstrated that it was a team to watch this season as it beat Yuk handily. The women's division had 5 teams participate with all teams winning.

The next weekend was the April Fools tourney, always a good one. This year, due to insurance hassles, the tourney had to be officially cancelled. But, as luck would have it, 36 teams happened to show up anyway (just by coincidence, I guess). So it turned out to be a non-event event. The women's finalists were the ever potent Fishheads (Mich) and the Zephyrs (Philly). The first half was close with the Fishies ahead by two goals, but the second half was all Fishheads as they won 15-7. But, the Zephyrs look to be a contender, coming off a Nationals berth in the fall. The Open division semi-finalists were Kaboom, Life, Spot, and Hostage Classic. The finals were HC and Spot, with HC winning 15-13.

The Rutgers Cup was held the next weekend (4/12) and all the Jersey teams (and even one from Philadelphia) you could think of made it. This year, the boys from Philadelphia, Uprising, a new team composed of veteran players, won all their games and defeated R&B to take the Cup- actually several cups.

NEW DGA DISC FOR '86

SUPERDRIVE™

Walk softly and carry a big disc. Bigger is better! 23.5 cm streamliner. Maximum weight 195 grams. Available from 165 to 195 grams. This disc goes where you aim it in almost any wind conditions. Really a super driver!

SOFTAPPROACH™

Approach with confidence. 23.5 cm standard design. Available from 136 to 195 grams. Stable in all wind conditions. Lands like a parachute. A "must" disc for the beginner.

POWERDRIVE™

One of the best distance discs available! 21.5 cm streamliner. Available 160 to 174 grams. Maximum control, maximum distance. Put some power in your drive!

PUTTERDRIVE™

A putter and mid range driver combined! 21 cm, 160 to 174 grams. An all purpose disc that loves the Mach II hole. New streamlined rim adds performance. If you're missing putts try ours.

GUMBPUTT™

Back by popular demand! 21 cm, 160 to 174 grams. This disc is so rubbery it will erase your score. If it touches chain, it's in! Feels the same wet or dry. The only putter with Chain Suck™

All discs are made of the highest quality unbreakable plastic available and feature the sure grip of the new Lines of Headrick.

OCTAD EVENT/REGISTRATION INFORMATION

This year, OCTAD '86 will be hosted by the newly formed TRI-STATE FRISBEE CLUB. This year's OCTAD is highlighted by the four+round PDGA 1986 Pro Tour Golf tournament and the US Open Overall Format. Warwick Park in Chester County will provide a premium challenge to East Coast Golfers!

The US Open Overall format will be used at this year's OCTAD. Newcomers to the sport may be unfamiliar with the overall scoring format. Overall tournaments are patterned after the "OLD" North American Series Meets held in the 70's. Competitors are awarded points for each event they participate in. The player with the most points at the end wins the Overall award. The following example will help; Competitor A, a specialist, enters one event (golf or Freestyle, for example) and does very well- first or second place, 50 points. Competitor B enters several events- Golf, Distance and MTA, and gets 90 points. Competitor C enters all the events and receives points in each of them- Golf, MTA, Distance, Guts, Ultimate, and Freestyle- 95 points. As you can see, entering all the events is important to doing well in an overall tournament.

Disc Golf will be 4 rounds plus any tie breakers. All PDGA Rules will be rigorously enforced. Disc Golf is the only single event with cash prizes- awarded to the top 1/3 of Pro entrants.

Distance will follow the US Open guidelines (except you don't have to throw Wham-O plastic), using a grid measurement system for both rounds. Distance Director- Peter DeRaymond.

MTA will follow the US Open format, using only the MTA portion of self-caught-flight. No TRC will be held due to space limitations.

Guts will be with 5 person teams, and will count towards overall. Guts teams will use the GFA round robin format. Guts Director-Rick Ross.

Ultimate will be with 7 person teams plus 2 subs. Games will be short (to 10). Ultimate will count towards overall. A round robin format may be used depending on the number of teams entering.

Freestyle will be juged by the players, using rank order. The top eight teams will advance to the Finals. Range timing will be used for the first time ever. 3-4 minute prelims, 4-5 minute finals. Freestyle Director- Shannon Winn.

A detailed event guideline procedure document will be available on-site explaining all tie breaker procedures.

REGISTRATION INFORMATION

The following will be given to each competitor entering OCTAD '86:

One Tri-State Frisbee Club T-shirt

One Tri-State Frisbee Club Disc (Aviar)

A year's subscription too the Tri-State Frisbee Club Newsletter (formerly PAFC Newsletter)

Registration fees: $15 all events.

$10 extra PDGA Pro division Golf.

$5 for individual events. Persons entering less than 3 events don't get a shirt, a disc , or a subscription.

THE ULTIMATE FOR ULTIMATE

A few years ago when we first introduced the 175-Gram ULTRA-STAR™ Sportdisc™ it was the first real alternative disc for ultimate play. Some of the world's best players found the original ULTRA-STAR™ superior to the standard ultimate disc. But for us, some isn't good enough. So, we listened closely to all the comments and criticisms and after months of redesign and retooling, the result is the NEW ULTRA-STAR™ SPORTDISC™. The Word Is Out! Pass It On!
