LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

Since I suspect many readers move on after the first paragraph of any article:MAKE SURE YOU CHECK THE "COMING UP" SECTION OF THIS ISSUE FOR MAJOR CHANGES! Note especially the cancellation of the Guts War. We don't want to compete with the Jersey States. We'll have Guts at the first-ever Allentown Open Flying Disc Championships, Oct 4&5. Also PDGA Golf, Freestyle, Distance & MTA.

There are, this fall, enough PDGA meets in the area to supply sufficient qualifying points to just about anybody.

A fascinating concept from Dan Doyle on the 16th of August at Douglass College- A combination disc and ball golf tournaent; 18 holes at Douglass follwed by 18 at a local ball golf course. Sounds like a blast. Dan says he'd like to see golfers of both varieties try the one they haven't played. Those of us who play both should really be able to shred. Borrow some clubs if you don't haveany and learn why ball golfers make way more money than disc golfers.

Again, be aware that this issue contains the only tournament schedule worth a damn. Don't make plans with the old ones!

Isn't it nice that the garbage strike is over? WSW

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Shannon,

In response to your News and Rumors, June '86 issue; Most all Delaware and Pennsylvania golfers enjoy this type of tournament and disagree with your statement "welcome change". These tournaments offer relaxed competition as well as a social get-together. I feel these tournaments are necessary to introduce the novice players to the sport, which is most important for it to grow.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Shannon,

The Newsletter is outstanding as usual. I must first point out there is a mistake on my score at OCTAD. I was not 6th in golf, but this is not all because it showed up on Overall. I appreciate the position, but I just don't feel it should go unnoticed. I believe the mistake is on the first round where I scored a 57 rather than the listed 52. I am sure the card said 57. Let it be known I had no part in this mistake, won no money as I know 6th place was awarded money and took no part nor was offered any part of a playoff.

Now to more important things. Linda and I would like to invite the membership of the TSFC to our Anniversary Tournament. This will be two rounds of eighteen on the newly designed course at Akron, PA on October 12, 1986. The cost will be $1.00, and trophies will be awarded. Yes, Akron now has 18 holes!!! If you don't have a dollar, come anyway. I am trying to convice Linda to have a party after the tournament, but this question has yet to be resolved. As you know, Akron does not allow alcohol. The meet will start at 11AM.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

Well, on Sunday June 1, 1986, I went to a disc golf "tournament" in Delaware, at Brandywine (Creek) State Park. It's a long course, and the event was scheduled to start at 11AM- 2 rounds,$2.00. Started very late- about 12:20 PM.

The reason for the late start is that if you haven't entered a Delaware disc golf event, you must shoot at least nine holes to acquire a handicap. Well my son and I did this. Then I shot a terrible round of 75. When they asked if I was going to play the next round I said maybe. I was then told I would have to re-register, and pay $2.00 more for the next round, which isn't bad, but that the two rounds were not cumulative.

The worst is next to come- My son shot verry well, so well that hecould not compete in the next round. (He could play, but not in the competition.) We did not drive for fifty minutes for this- Some who drove from even more distant areas also did too well to be allowed to compete in the second round.

This is not the first Delaware event, so if there were mistakes in the Newsletter, in reference to how the tournament is run, they should have been corrected by the next issue.

If this is to encourage Delawarians to play disc golf, then they should be for Delawarians only. If this is a disc golf tournament, then it should follow the format I have known since 1977.

There is an old saying- "If it's not broken, don't fix it." Ball golf and all disc golf is played on a cumulative basis. If you are to advertise a disc golf event in a disc newsletter reaching disc players, the accepted format should not be arbitrarilly dismissed.

You want to hold that kind of disc day for novices, terrific- advertise it in another medium and don't use the communicative tool- a long time to arrive in it's present state- to bring real disc golfers to a novice event, run in a way that is not only inferior to the way all other disc golf (tournaments) have been held but a sham in getting us there as well. Very bad, very bad.

Cumulative golf lends a cameraderie and continuity to a day of golf not present in two single rounds. I will not attend another Delaware tourney and I don't think other golfers who are aware of the format will either.

Shame for the sham.

As ever,
Paul Fein

AMATEURS AND COMPLICATIONS IN DISC GOLF

by Shannon Winn

"An amateur is never in proper control of his art." --Graham Greene am a teur- 1. A person who engages in a study, sport, or other activity for pleasure rather than for financial benefit of professional reasons. 2. An athlete who has never competed for payment or for a monetary prize. 3. A superficial or unskilled worker; dabbler.

It goes on from there, but the first three definitions of the word are sufficient for the purposes of this article.

By the first definition, every disc golfer I've ever met is an amateur- that is, we play for fun, primarily, and if we happen to win some money along the way, fine. The word amateur is derived from the Latin amator, meaning "lover". Anyway, there isn't all that much money in the sport, at least not yet.

It is the third definition that interests me. Are all those players who sign up amateur in our tournaments unskilled, superficial dabblers, or should some of them be playing in the pro division?

Perhaps we should have a rule that forces anyone winning the Am division to play pro, at least in non-PDGA meets, from that point on. I'm not talking about Delaware tournaments, but rather the $5 meets held at Warwick, Sedgely and elsewhere, where there is no handicap system to further confuse the issue. (see letter pg. 2)

There are good reasons why I think we should institute such a rule. First, there would gradually be more money in the pro purse. This has to appeal to those players whose names appear regularly at or near the top of the golf results. Second, it would make those few under 60 shooters who always win the Am division play in the Pro class where they belong. This, in turn would actually strengthen the Am class by giving the real amateurs a shot at winning their division.

It has been suggested that we should create an "expert" class between Pro and Am, but I disagree. It's just another artificial distinction in a game best kept as simple as possible. It would add to the hassle of running a meet, and of compiling results. Open Pro and Am, Women's Pro and Am, Junior, and Senior are plenty already. If we are going to have an expert class, we may as well get really silly and form a "bozo" class as well, for those players who don't even shoot well enough to be called amateurs. Instead of awarding discs in the bozo class, we could take the discs they have away!

Simplification of the sport, rather than more and more complications should be our goal. What do YOU think? WSW

2ND SEMI-ANNUAL BOOZY IDIOTS BALL/DISK GOLF RIDICULOUSNESS

Mr. Sausage hereby requests your presence, and that of anyone foolish enough to admit that they know you, at the 2nd Semi-Annual Boozy Idiots Ball/Disk Golf Ridiculousness on Saturday, August 16, 1986 from 10:00 A.M. until your body refuses to deal with the disgusting antics that you will probably engage in during the course of this wild day. Events will hopefully proceed as follows:

9:00 - 9:30	Breakfast (bEER & BANANAS)	"Let The Sickness Begin" Sausage House, Somerset, N.J.
10:00	Disk Golf 18 Holes	Douglass College New Brunswick, N.J.
1:00	Ball Golf 18 Holes	Quail Brook Golf Course Somerset, N.J. Greens Fee: $13.50
8:00	PARTY & Awards	Sausage House, Somerset

- Top 3 finishers in Disc Golf and Ball Golf will win Something Boozy.
- A "Closest-To-The-Hole" contest will be held in both events, with winners to receive a case of Black Label or Joe Ortliebs beer.
- Top 3 finishers, based on combined score of both events, will be awarded some sort of bogus prize.

 Following the completion of our adventures on the golf courses, you are encouraged to return to the Sausage House for the awards ceremony and an evening of ingesting random foodstuffs and massive quantities of alcohol. Sleeping accomodations can be arranged. If you can't make it for the day's athletics, you're welcome to join us for EVENING ABUSE.

 Please RSVP ASAP. This event will happen rain or shine. Once I have an idea of the expected turnout, a small donation will help defray the cost of prizes, food, booze, and tub cleaner.

 This is the second attempt at this foolish ridiculousness. The 1st gathering in June attracted a small but enthusiastic bunch of semi-Cretins who collectively staged a rather pitiful display of shot-making, public indecency, and general spasticity. These are admirable traits. I HOPE YOU CAN JOIN US AND SHARE IN THE LUNACY.....

Behold the Newest Frisbee Event- DESKATHON IS HERE!

by Billy Bloom

Dateline: La Mirada, June 24, 1986- The U.S. Open Frisbee Championships began today with the most controversial of the seven contested events showing the effects of this past winter's heated debates. Discathon, the event some claim has no legitimate place in the Frisbee Family, has been altered to include three "tests", specific points in the race where an accurate throw will cut off running time...

Now that Carl Lewis's favorite Frisbee event has been tranformed into a bona fide disc sport (what's that? you only have to prove you have some disc skill on three occasions? oh well, that's three more than in the past...), it's time to press on.

Discathon was added in response to America's growing infatuation with running/jogging. The rationale- to blend Frisbee and running together into a new discipline- was fine indeed. The fact that the resulting event was a piece of schmutz is unfortunate, but should not prevent us from forging ahead in the quest for still more new events. Frisbee must continue to grow, to seek out America's wants and needs, and to satisfy them.

With this thought in mind, I labored for many minutes before coming up with my proposal for the next Frisbee event. Like Discathon, this new event will smoothly combine Frisbee with another American passion in a manner so natural that one wonders how it has not come about sooner.

The past few years have shown a total explosion in the popularity of game shows on TV. Once the subject of ridicule, the game show is now seen as an authentic programming threat. The Wheel Of Fortune can be seen 10 times a day in some regions; The Price Is Right will soon challenge the mighty Cosby Show in the ratings race.

With this in mind, I propose that the next new Frisbee event be "Deskathon"- a beautiful and touching marriage between Frisbee and the game show.

The event will take place on an open field which has ten desks scattered about- each clearly numbered. To complete the course, the player must use his disc skills to complete 10 different "tests". On the command "GO!" the contestant throws from the starting line toward the first desk. In three throws or less (note throwing skill required here), he must get the disc to land in the desk drawer that has been left open. If he fails to hole out in the desk in three throws, he must go back to the previous desk or starting line and try again.

Once he successfully enters the desk, he must sit down and take his first "test". Each desk will represent a different catagory, i.e. geography, music, mathematics, potpourri, etc. If desk #1 is the physics desk, for example, Joe Frisbee may have to answer the question "What is the half life of Uranium?" If he answers correctly, he gets up and throws for desk #2. If, however, he gives the wrong answer, he must put on a dunce cap before continuing. The dunce cap will be made of steel and weigh 10 pounds.

So goes the event until the player completes all 10 tests. More than three throws? Go back to the previous desk and try again. Incorrect answer? Put on another dunce cap!

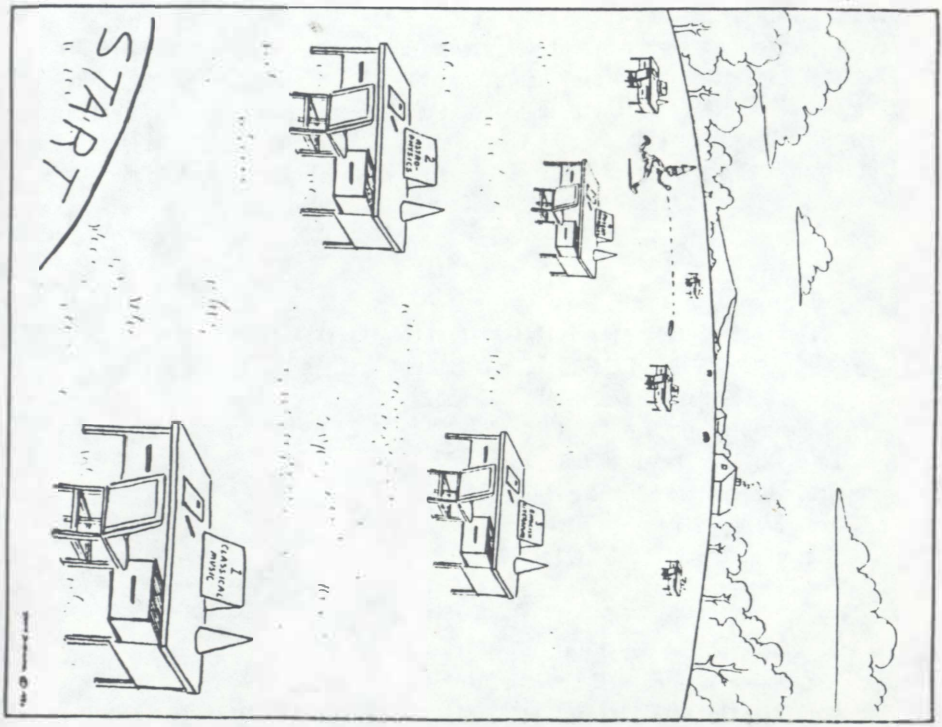
Imagine the delight spectators will have when their favorite player, his mind long since eroded from substance abuse, has to don dunce cap #8 in order to continue. What fun it will be to see him (and his four remaining brain cells) as he attempts to run and throw with eighty pounds of metal on his head! And talk about crowd-pleasing; Each desk will have a microphone so everyone can share in the delight of yet another wrong answer!

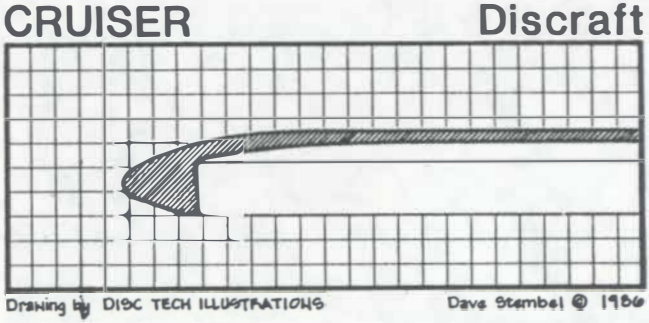
Discathon served several purposes when introduced to the Frisbee world. It combined a beloved American pastime with a Frisbee game, it forced previously out-of-shape frizzers to get aerobic, and it invited a whole new catagory of competitors- those who were fleet of foot and short of disc skills- into the tournament fold.

Now, brothers and sisters, we can do it all over again. Deskathon will also combine a much-loved activity with Frisbee, it will force previously beef-brained players to start using thier heads, and it will lure a new breed of player into the sport.

Anyone who accepts Discathon as a Frisbee event cannot argue with the validity of Deskathon, and therefore must join me in my crusade to elevate it to its rightful place on the tournament trail.

Open your eyes, Wham-O Sports Promotions. The push is on to get Deskathon included in the 1987 U.S. Open. California, here I come... !!





GOLF DISC UPDATE

by Dave Stembel

Discraft unveiled their new disc, the CRUISER, at the PDGA Championships in Charlotte NC just last month. Discraft has labeled the CRUISER an "experimental" golf disc. As with other low-profile discs, the golfer will have to "experiment" with it to control its flight. It has a very thick wedge-shaped rim, however the CRUISER would be much too heavy had it been molded with Discraft's distinctive plastic (that of the Sky Streak and Phantom+). Instead the CRUISER is molded in somewhat lighter, softer plastic; it floats, but don't try using it for Discathon, as it is sharp and massive enough to cause injury! The floating characteristic will be good news to golfers playing courses with water hazards. But don't let this fool you: there is plenty of volume in the CRUISER mold, even with the light plastic to produce a heavy distance disc. My unofficial measuremets put the CRUISER at 21.35cm in diameter, meaning the top-end legal weight, which Discraft will no doubt mold right up to, is 177.205g. Will this disc fly farther than any other? No telling. I carry at least one of each high-tech disc in my bag, and from now on a CRUISER will be there too. DS
